PLACE OF GRACE

FLORENCE BOULEVARD CHURCH OF CHRIST

We are so glad you are here!

Positively Possible

with Austin

How does this sound?

It's easy to forget how big a small action can be. The Stovall family experienced this truth recently.

Two weeks ago at Pew Packers, Beckett Stovall was sitting down on the front pew with the rest of the kids singing and enjoying our Pew Packer's class. When Pew Packer's ended, and it was time for our boys to get up and practice leading in a devotional period, one by one the boys got up to lead a song, prayer, or read Scripture. I turned to Beckett, who was sitting there with the kids and asked, "Beckett, would you like to lead a song?" He responded so nonchalantly, "Sure." So, for the first time, Beckett walked up to the table and led his song... he crushed it!

It was a big deal. But the big deal happened, in part, because of a small action. The small action was Beckett sitting with the kids who were leading. Beckett's story made me think, you may want to better yourself, move out of your comfort zone, or create better spiritual discipline.

For today's Positively Possible piece, I would suggest, to make that happen put yourself with the people that build you up and inspire you to be better. With positive examples and encouragement, it is positively possible that you will become more of who God wants you to be!

Journey to Jesus

with John

The youth group had the opportunity to have a fun outing at "Maroon and Gold Day" at Freed Hardeman this past Saturday. We reunited with some Florence Boulevard members, had a free meal, saw a parade and had a coffee shop devotional. It was a good day to be together!
