POSITIVELY POSSIBLE

WITH AUSTIN

Shepherds, by nature, guide sheep. Shepherds care for sheep. Shepherds protect sheep. Shepherds want to be near their sheep. Our Shepherds have intelligently opened themselves up to meeting your needs by meetings on Wednesdays. These Wednesday meetings aren't the only time they are available to us, however, they are an intentional planned time they are available to us. I appreciate their intentionality. Meeting the needs of others can happen unintentionally and by accident at times. However, purposeful action with thoughtful planning is the best way to go about meeting others needs. Let's follow the example of our Shepherds, making ourselves available to meet the needs of others. And if necessary, make a plan of action to accomplish it! As always, remember, with God all things are [positively] possible!

Response

Justin Beckman responded to the invitation this past Sunday morning asking for prayers for strength to do better in every area of his life and to stay focused on what is important. Please keep Justin in your prayers in the coming weeks.

Thank You!

We received a thank you card from the Carpenter family which reads, "There are no words to tell everyone how much the outpouring of love and care, shown to Ray and me throughout his sickness and death, meant to us. Thank you for much for all the cards, calls, texts, and food. And the roses sent to the funeral were absolutely gorgeous. Your support through all this has been very special to Ray and to me. I love y'all so much."
